

HOT CHARGES MADE BY McNAB

McReynolds's Excesses to the President Are Lame and Puerile and Will Deceive None in California, He Says, Announcing the Fact That His Resignation Has Been Accepted.

Wilson Suspends Special Agent Who Helped McNab and Who Laid Facts Before the President, Advising the Removal of the Attorney General Because of the Case.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—With a parting denunciation of Attorney General McReynolds, that bristled with charges, John L. McNab concluded his labors as United States district attorney for the northern district and prepared to return to private life.

McNab has received a telegram from President Wilson accepting his resignation, which he tendered with charges that the attorney general sought to postpone the trial of the Diggins-Caminetti and the Fuel Company cases, in the former of which he went before United States Justice Van Fleet and made formal announcement of his retirement.

McNab's statement was a bitter one. He said: "No one in California will be for an instant deceived by the lame and puerile defense of the attorney general to the President. He says I should have wired to remind him, while I had already three times warned him that postponement would be obtained by political influence at Washington, that our witnesses were being subpoenaed and that one of the defendants was jailed for attempting to corrupt the witness. I told him repeatedly that any continuance would leave this office under the stigma of corruption."

"The attorney general knew all this, but cared not to wait whether this office was charged with corruption or not, so long as his rich and influential friends were satisfied."

"One of two things is true; either Attorney General McReynolds withheld from the President the repeated messages of warning that corruption and influence were destroying the cases and that postponement was fatal, or Washington is neither sensitive nor responsive to the charge of corruption in its public servants."

SUSPENDS SPECIAL AGENT OF DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(By Associated Press Cablegram)—That President Wilson does not intend to hear charges made against his advisers was startlingly demonstrated here yesterday in the announcement that Clayton Herrington, a special agent of the department of justice, had been suspended from office by the President. Herrington had taken up with the President the circumstances surrounding the Diggins-Caminetti case and the facts in the matter as he had learned them while assisting the United States district attorney in working up the cases and securing the evidence upon which the indictments were found.

Herrington's resignation, the President not to accept McNab's resignation but to remove Attorney General McReynolds from office as the one culpable. The President responded by issuing orders for the suspension of the special agent.

MORE INDICTMENTS AGAINST CAMINETTI

BUFFALO, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Two more victims of the dust explosion in the elevator of the Huested Milling Company this morning died in the hospital this evening, making a total of eight known dead. About twenty injured employees are being treated in the hospital and of these at least eight probably will die.

A canvass of the homes of the working men revealed a total of eighteen still missing. It is feared more bodies will be found in the ruins. The fire in the ruins has not yet been completely extinguished and search for further victims is extremely difficult and dangerous.

Princess Abbie in Best of Health On Way Home

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Princess Aikawa Kawananakoa has arrived in San Francisco after a two month's visit with friends and relatives in New York and other Eastern cities. She came by way of Los Angeles, where she was the guest of Mrs. Emmet May for two weeks. Mrs. May is returning to Honolulu with the Princess.

Princess Kawananakoa declared emphatically that she was in better health than ever before. She ridiculed the report that she had gone East to consult a specialist with regard to her health. "I did not see a single doctor and I don't want to see any," she said. "I have had the finest time of my life and I am enjoying California as I always do. Now I am still of the opinion that lovers should not be serious as they too often are. We are lingering in San Francisco for a few days, awaiting the sailing of the Honolulu steamer, and I expect to return next spring."

"Lieutenant Charles Lyman, United States Army," is the way the card of Charles Lyman reads nowadays. "Charles," who hails from Hilo, and is a graduate of Punahou College, graduated at West Point June 12, and is now a full-fledged officer of the Army. He is the third member of the same family to graduate from West Point.

Lieut. Charles Lyman, Pointa Cavalry, Schofield Barracks, was the first of the brothers to become a lieutenant, being assigned to the cavalry division. Then brother Albert K. Lyman graduated and was assigned to the corps of engineers.

Lieut. Charles Lyman was one of the best men behind the last during Ponahou's lastest seasons. When he went to West Point he became cadet for the West Point team in his first year and became widely known as a war man with the miff. As a batter he won many a game for his team.

At the graduation exercises Lyman was particularly fortunate. The Army and Navy Register of June 14 says: "Lyman, from far-off Hawaii, the third member of his family to be graduated from West Point, was cheered when he went forward for his diploma."

An unusual incident was not during the exercises. Walter Francis K. Newcomer, the head of the class, is the son of Col. Henry C. Newcomer, corps of engineers, who also graduated at the head of his class in 1886. The cadet was given an ovation.

Blue-jacketed British sailors and red-coated marines to the number of seven hundred odd will parade through the streets of Honolulu on Sunday, July 13, if the plans of those preparing for the welcoming of and the entertainment for the officers and men of the battleship cruiser New Zealand materialize. This will take the form of a church parade, from the ship to St. Andrew's cathedral, at ten o'clock Sunday morning, when special services will be held in the cathedral for the visitors. As the blue-jackets and marines will be in parade uniform for this event, the march through the streets should be a very fine spectacle for the townsmen and give the residents of the city a splendid opportunity of seeing the Britishers in drill formation.

On the same day, after the church services, the members of the Commercial Club, probably will be the hosts of the officers of the battleship in an auto trip around the island and at supper at the club. President Bush of the Commercial Club will call on Captain Halsey of the New Zealand, on her arrival, and present the club's invitation to him and his officers.

The committee named by the British residents of the city to give a Honolulu welcome to the New Zealand and her officers and crew held a short meeting yesterday afternoon at the Pacific Club, at which progress along various lines was reported. The plans of the committee for the entertainment ashore of the men of the battleship call for the expenditure of one thousand dollars, more than half of which has been subscribed. It is expected that the hundred and odd Britishers of the city who have not yet subscribed will come forward with the balance.

Plans are being drawn up for a first-class sports program, to be held at Kaplani Park, while there will be cricket and soccer on the side. The Field Artillery soccer men of Schlegel have already forwarded a challenge to the battleship players, in care of the committee, and probably other challenges will come in for other events.

When the full program is arranged, it will be witnessed, by courtesy of Admiral Moore, to the battleship, for the consideration of Captain Halsey and for whatever revision may be found necessary.

Although the Honolulu men of British birth are leading in making plans for the entertainment of the naval visitors, the entire city is interested and the local Britishers' end of the affair will only be a part of what will be done for the ship on her first visit to any foreign port on an imperial cruise of the world.

Steel uprights will probably be raised over the concrete corner posts for the new Hawaii National Guard Armory the latter part of this week. The excavation of the site has been completed, only a hummock or two of earth having been left for fill purposes around the foundations.

The false timber work for the remainder of the concrete wall for the foundation is in place and awaits the pouring of concrete.

Practically all the steel material is on hand, so that there will be no delays once the superstructure work is started. As the armory is more like a huge shell than an office building, the work will progress rapidly, say the contractors.

Colonel Jones, adjutant general of the national guard, states that he has been in touch with the contractors that the building will be finished in January and ready for occupancy in February.

IMMIGRANT TRAIN PLUNGED INTO RIVER

OTTAWA, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Officials of the Canadian Pacific late this afternoon estimated that fifteen persons were killed in a wreck of the Western Express, three miles west of here. The train, loaded with immigrants, plunged down an embankment into the Ottawa River, and so far the rescuers have been unable to reach all of the dead. The accident was caused by spreading rails.

There is always a large percentage of work-a-day people who are not allotted vacations in the summer and it is to this class that the yearly excursions of the Inter-Island Steamship Company mean much. On other occasions the trips have been to the Valetano but this year Maui will be the center of the Fourth of July festivities.

The Mauna Kea will leave here on the afternoon of Thursday, July 3, and will return early Monday morning. This will give the passengers an opportunity to visit the wonderful crater of Haleakala, as well as witness the horse races at Maui in the afternoon and be participants in the dancing that will occupy the time of Maunaloa in the evening. The hotel at Maui will supply picnic lunches for those who wish to spend the day at the races and an elaborate dinner will be served after the races. The entire trip will cost $39.

As the excursion to Haleakala is not an easy one, some of the pleasure seekers may not want to include it in their jaunt. For those a drive through the beautiful Iao Valley has been substituted. This part of the excursion may be had for $19, and those who only wish to participate in the races, the dinner and dance may make the round trip for $9.

Inadequacy Is Invitation for War, Says Dewey

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—An adequate American navy means a fleet second only to that of Great Britain and inadequacy is an invitation to war, is the opinion of Admiral Dewey, leading naval officer of the United States.

"I believe it is the duty of each generation to pay its own insurance and not to rest its burdens on the generations that come after. The insurance for peace today is a navy strong enough to compel it," says the Admiral, in an article written for the Navy-day program at Newport on July 2 and just made public.

TAKES JAUNT OVER SEA TO STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Brindesone des Montlins, French aviator, today monopolized one hundred and fifty miles over the Baltic Sea for four hours, traveling here from Reval, Russia.

Believed to have met death by drowning while bathing in Waialua Bay, the body of Harold I. Smith, is the object of a widely extended search which is being carried on by the residents of Waialua and the police. Smith, was seventeen years old, an employee of the Oahu Railway & Land Company, and the discovery of his clothes neatly piled beneath a tree on a beach, yesterday morning, supplied the first clue to his probable fate.

Deputy Sheriff Oscar Cox of Waialua telephoned word of the finding of the clothes to Sheriff Jarrett yesterday morning, and the apparel was identified as belonging to Smith by a Y. M. C. A. card found in one of the pockets.

The youth has been missing since Sunday evening, when he failed to return to the home of Mrs. Sarah Grace, Kaimuki, where he had been staying.

Smith came here from California with the head groom in charge of the polo ponies of the Hawaii team. The boy attached himself to the team's stables at one of the Coast towns where a match was played, and soon became a favorite among the players. Walter Dillingham took a great interest in him, and on Smith's arrival here, secured him a position with the railroad.

LONDON, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—While reports that Bulgaria and Serbia have agreed to accept Russia's offer of arbitration in their territorial disputes have not been officially confirmed, it is believed today that prospects of peace in the Balkans are brighter.

Belgrade dispatches say that the new Serbian cabinet is strongly peaceful, and Sofia says that Bulgaria is willing to submit the dispute to arbitration.

Russian pressure is believed to be responsible for the change.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—"It is impossible to describe the conditions in Mexico," says E. C. Houghton, general manager of the Correlitos ranch, near Chihuahua, Mexico, in an interview in the Washington Post. "On our ranch of one million acres, with forty thousand head of cattle and two thousand horses owned principally by residents of New York, the Mexicans, both federal and rebels, have commandeered in all upward of three hundred saddle horses, four thousand head of cattle and more than $200,000 worth of store goods. Since May 1 they have looted my house, carried off supplies and more than two hundred saddle horses."

It was impossible to remain on the ranch, for all who remained would certainly have been captured and held for ransom. Last January the general manager of the Palomas Land Cattle Company, a California company, was captured and forced to pay $5000 for his release. Within the last month he was again captured and compelled to contribute $2000 more to his captors. W. A. Roxby, in charge of the San Pedro ranch, a British concern, was held for a like amount.

"There is invested in the State of Chihuahua alone between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 of American and British capital in cattle and ranches, besides many millions more in mines and lumbering. It makes no difference whether federal or rebels are in control the same treatment is accorded Americans. Both sides have great animosity toward Americans and foreigners generally, due largely to the policy or lack of policy of the United States in the last few years."

"To resist the demands of the Mexicans means death. I had a telegram from my son, now in El Paso, a day or two ago saying that news from the ranch was that the rebels were still on the range, and a large body of Sonora rebels were coming from Chihuahua. In the great territory 6000 miles of the American boundary, extending southward for one hundred miles, no superintendent of ranches and American employees have been captured by rebels and compelled to pay ransom or to act as hostages and in other capacities for the rebels. One man, a ranch superintendent, was held for several weeks as a horse-shoer until finally he gave a check for $500, and he was advised that he would be killed on sight if the check was not honored. Pillaging and plundering continues throughout the territory. American employees have been driven off by Mexican employees and compelled to join belligents or be shot."

HUERTA FACING VERY SERIOUS SITUATION

Rebels in the North Are Growing Stronger Daily, While Southern States Grow Restless, With Raising Parties Active and Indian Tribes Ready to Take to the War Path.

Foreign Interests Hopeful That British Protest Will Result in Some Form of Intervention to Bring About Settled Conditions—Mexican Officials Admit the Gravity of the Situation.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 25.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Conditions throughout the Republic grow steadily worse, and the most discouraging reports of Constitutional success continue to come in from the northern States. High officials connected with the government of Provisional President Huerta make no attempt to conceal their alarm at the gravity of the situation which is faced by the administration and with which there appears to be no one able to cope.

The foreign interests are eagerly awaiting the result of the protest filed with the British ambassador at Washington, Sir Arthur Spring-Rice, by the British minister here, hoping that British influence will either force the United States to take a hand or that Great Britain herself will take some steps to bring to an end what has become an intolerable situation.

Reports are at hand of sporadic raiding by rebel bands in Southern Mexico, where, also, the Indian tribes are said to be ready to rise should the troops be withdrawn because of the northern crisis.

Another Crushing Blow.

What is admitted by the officials of the war department to be the heaviest blow the Huerta administration has yet received was the defeat of General Ojeda yesterday by the Constitutionalists. The war department has confirmed the rumor that reached the city. Orders have been sent to Ojeda to fall back toward the sea, in the direction of Guaymas.

HE WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA

"I had advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I got a small piece of the Soap to try and a little of the Ointment. Some chronic sufferers from rheumatism are human barometers. They can recognize by the growing pains in their tender joints and muscles the slightest increase of moisture in the air, even a change in the direction of the wind.

Such a condition of supersensitiveness is always attended with thin blood. The watery, poison-laden fluid that fills the arteries must be built up and purified, before there can be any progress toward permanent recovery. The problem of medicine is not to cure a single attack of rheumatism but to eradicate it from the system and strengthen the body to resist another attack. This can be done by building up the blood.

Mr. Israel Dearborn, of Corvallis, Maine, says: "I had always had more or less rheumatism in my back and in my legs from the knees down, but it was not until a few years ago that I began to suffer severely from the disease. Then I had such a severe attack that I was confined to the house for two weeks and was unable to use my legs. I also had pains in my arms. The pains became so intense that I could hardly move and I had to lie down most of the time. Then I began to read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for me. They quickly relieved me and drove the disease entirely out of my system."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an excellent tonic for the blood and are absolutely safe. Our booklet, "Building Up the Blood," is free on request and should be read by every rheumatic sufferer.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo yesterday gave impressive evidence of the administration's willingness to do everything possible to relieve any feeling of uncertainty in the business world that may exist on account of the recent conditions of fear of the tariff that he "would not hesitate" to issue $500,000,000 of new national bank notes under the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency act, if the banks desired them.

This announcement, it was made clear, was given only as a remedy for the purpose of removing any uncertainty that may exist in the minds of lenders as to what Secretary McAdoo's attitude would be upon application of this character. Mr. McAdoo explained that no application for emergency currency had been received from national banks, and that his statement was not prompted by any special developments in the business world.

Act Not Invoked.

No currency ever has been issued under the provisions of the Aldrich-Vreeland law since it was passed in May, 1908. During the financial stringency that fall bankers attempted to get return of the Treasury. McAdoo's act to let them avail themselves of the privilege extended by the Aldrich-Vreeland act, but he declined.

The $500,000,000 of notes authorized under the law have been printed for some time, and are ready in the treasury vaults for distribution in case the banks should care to call for them.

It was believed yesterday that Mr. McAdoo's announcement was intended by President Wilson as an expression of the administration's willingness to do everything possible to relieve the business world of uncertainty and to inspire confidence. Up to this time there have been no reports of serious money stringency, but the administration apparently is acting partly with an eye to the demands that will be made when the crop-moving period begins.

The secretary said that the Aldrich-Vreeland act passed five years ago authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue additional currency to national banks and currency associations upon the security of State and municipal bonds as well as government, and also, under certain conditions, to currency associations, on high-class short-term commercial paper, as well as on government, State and municipal bonds.

Issue Is Ready.

In accordance with the act, the secretary of the treasury has actually in hand $500,000,000 in new national bank notes, which can be issued immediately to new national banks or currency associations applying therefor and complying with the provisions of the act.

The secretary said that he would not hesitate to issue currency to any banks making application and qualifying under the act.

The secretary explained that the new currency is, of course, exactly like existing national bank notes, and that if such currency should be issued there is nothing in the notes or in the manner of their delivery to indicate that they are "new" currency issued under the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

National currency associations have been organized in various parts of the country from Massachusetts to California, from the large cities of New York, Chicago, St. Louis, and others, and are now qualified to take the benefit of the act. So that the national banks and these currency associations, upon compliance with the act, may quickly receive additional currency to the extent of $500,000,000 if they require it, upon application to the treasury department.
